TEXT: En la ardiente oscuridad

AUTHOR: Antonio Buero Vallejo

EDITION: Annotated Spanish Edition (Stockcero)

PART 1: CONTEXT & CRITICAL ANALYSIS

(Based on the Author's Prologue and Critical Studies)

1. THE BLINDNESS AS METAPHOR:

- Realistic Symbolism: Buero Vallejo insists that the play is not about "blind people in particular," but about "man in general." Blindness serves as a powerful metaphor for the human condition: our limitations, our ignorance, and our refusal to see the tragic reality of existence.
- The "Iron Curtain" of Reality: The institution where the characters live represents a society that constructs a false sense of happiness ("la moral de acero") to avoid confronting its defects. This is often interpreted as a critique of Francoist Spain, where official propaganda masked social and political problems.

2. THE CONFLICT: IGNACIO VS. CARLOS:

- Ignacio (The Tragic Visionary): He refuses to accept the "lie" of happiness. He yearns for sight (truth/freedom) even if it causes pain. He represents the non-conformist individual.
- Carlos (The Defender of Order): He defends the institution's rules and the collective "happiness." He sees Ignacio as a threat to the community's stability.
- The Dialectic: The conflict isn't just Good vs. Evil; it's a clash between two ways of existing. Ignacio's death is tragic, but his spirit "infects" Carlos, who ends up adopting Ignacio's doubts.

3. "POSIBILISMO" IN THEATER:

- Buero Vallejo advocated for "Posibilismo" (Possibilism): writing plays that could pass censorship and be performed within the regime, yet still convey a critical message through symbolism and subtext. This contrasts with "Imposibilismo" (writing radical plays that would never be staged).

PART 2: TOPICS FOR CLASS DISCUSSION

- Political Allegory: How does the "Institution" in the play reflect the structures of a totalitarian state? Discuss the role of "Don Pablo" and the rules of the center.
- The Ending: Analyze the final scene. Does Carlos's final line ("...ahora están brillando las estrellas...") suggest hope or despair? Has Ignacio truly won?
- Disability Studies: While metaphorical, the play deals with physical limitations. How does Buero portray the psychology of exclusion versus integration?
